

Dedicates Royal Oak Monument to Memory Of Rev. W. T. Currie

One of Earliest Missionaries to Africa Honored in Impressive Exercises Held by British Columbia Conference of the United Church of Canada

APPROXIMATELY 400 persons, including a large number of the delegates to the British Columbia Conference of the United Church, gathered Sunday afternoon at the former home of the late Rev. Walter T. Currie, D.D., in Royal Oak, to witness the dedication of a memorial erected by the Victoria Presbytery of the Conference to the memory of Dr. Currie.

The open-air dedication service was presided over by Rev. Dr. W. G. Wilson, of First United Church. Following the invocation and Scripture reading from the Twelfth Chapter of Romans by Rev. Thomas Keyworth, president of the Victoria Presbytery, the missionary hymn, "In Christ There Is No East Nor West," was sung. After the hymn, Rev. J. P. Hicks, Victoria, commented briefly on the life of Dr. Currie, who was the first missionary to enter Angola, West Africa, having been sent out by the Congregational Church of Canada, under the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions.

DEDICATORY ADDRESS

Rev. Willard A. Brewster, M.A., D.D., president of the conference, delivered the dedicatory address. "Religion," he said, "has blessed the world with historical insight." He congratulated the memorial committee on its choice of "a beautiful monument," beautiful because its ruggedness was symbolic of the pioneer spirit of the missionary.

He spoke of the work being done now in Dondi, where Currie worked and where 400 new Christians were baptized last year. He drew attention to the "imperialistic dreams of David Livingstone for the Empire of Christ," which, he said, "were far vaster than those of Cecil Rhodes for the British Empire." He mentioned the dreams of Livingstone as one of the factors motivating Currie's work.

Speaking of the progress of civilization in Africa since Livingstone, Currie and other early missionaries worked there, Dr. Brewster declared that Africa is "no longer a distant country nor a dark continent." The challenge to the church is to drop Bibles and medicines on isolated African villages before European nations drop bombs on them.

PROGRESS IN ANGOLA

Among facts quoted by Dr. Brewster to portray the progress in the work in Angola was that last year 1,200 Angolans were ordained into the church ministry. Such things, said Dr. Brewster, illustrate that it was good policy not to "hide our light under a bushel."

Concluding with an appeal for inter-racial friendship, Dr. Brewster asserted that he believed that "the image of God should be carved out of ebony with just as great beauty as out of ivory." This spot, he said, "is commemorated to the cause of international friendship."

Following the singing of the hymn, "Jesus Shall Reign Where'er the Sun," Rev. J. G. Brown, M.A., D.D., Vancouver, past-president of the conference, pronounced the Benediction.

B. A. McKelvie Says Government Failure Resulted in Hedley Scandal

VANCOUVER, May 24.—While a capacity audience shouted approval, B. A. McKelvie, Conservative candidate at Victoria, speaking at Marpole, in Vancouver-Point Grey riding, on Saturday, demanded the resignation of Hon. George S. Pearson as Minister of Mines. He charged that the failure of the Government to do its duty had resulted in the Hedley Amalgamation scandal, and that the "victimizing of many innocent people" was contributed to by such failure.

The speaker supported his argument by quoting from official documents, citing the Fraser reports, which he said clearly indicated both the Department of Mines and the Attorney-General's Department of failure to protect the public. He said that nothing had been done by the Attorney-General's Department to check up on the activities of the Hedley share-selling operations, while the Minister of Mines himself had permitted the Hedley company "to treat him and his whole department with contempt."

THE SUPPRESSED REPORT

He read from the Government's explanation of why the Richmond report had been suppressed, and charged that "the Government had its eyes fixed on the price of shares and not on the extravagant claims" made for the property. In ten months, he said, according to the department's own statement, the whole machinery of government was not able to substantiate Richmond's suspicion of "salting," but that J. R. Williams, assayer, was able to substantiate his suspicion of "salting" within twenty-five days of the time when he became dubious of the value of mining cores.

Mr. McKelvie also reviewed the story of the new Fraser River bridge. He quoted official documents in support of his statements. The Government, he said, was in the power of the contractors on the job, for the construction company was financing the work on call loan. Millions had been borrowed by the Government from the contracting company, and according to the Government's own admission the money could be called on thirty days' notice before any interest due date.

"GOOD FINANCING"

"And this sort of thing," Mr. McKelvie exclaimed, "is what Hon. John Hart calls good financing!" After reading a Canadian Press dispatch of a speech made at Stewart by the Premier, in which Mr. Pattullo was said to have declared that "it was unthinkable"

B.C. Campaign Goes Into Final Period; Verdict on June 1

Electorate Still Following Coronation and Its Aftermath as Provincial General Election Enters Final Days on Rostrums—Another Mandate Asked

In a province still more interested in the Coronation and its aftermath than in a sudden general provincial election, all political groups enter the final stage of their drive today for forty-eight seats in the Nineteenth Legislature and control of the administration of the affairs of British Columbia.

Government forces, under Premier Pattullo, have crystallized their campaign to a general appeal for re-election, on the ground that that would show a united front at Ottawa when the Province commences negotiations before the coming Federal commission on taxation and other matters.

ISSUE JOINED

Conservatives, under Dr. Frank P. Patterson, have stressed the issue of finance, declaring that cessation of borrowing and active measures to reduce the present debt of the Province cannot longer be delayed. A drive for an independent highway commission is also a main plank in the platform of the Conservative party, as is revision of mining laws.

The Co-operative Commonwealth Federation has kept up a two-way attack on both Liberal and Conservative policies, and is stressing public ownership of the means of production and other remedies in a straight socialist appeal.

OTHER GROUPS

The Social Credit League of British Columbia and the British Columbia Constructives, both with fragmentary slates, are acknowledging making no bid for government, but desire to place members of their respective parties in the Legislature in a missionary sense. Such independents as are running are scattered in separate ridings, with several remedies of their own.

The only heat in the campaign so far has been engendered by opposition attacks on the ministry on the grounds of alleged extravagance, and counter thrusts by Government forces against the record of the Unionist regime it succeeded. Commencing today, all groups will mount the rostrum for the last few days of the campaign, with polling on June 1.

DRIFTS INTO THE BEYOND

ually his pulse grew weaker, finally stopped, and the man who pyramided his savings from a $450 a week job into the Standard Oil Trust, which once controlled three-fourths of the United States output, was dead.

A RELIGIOUS DUTY

He once wrote: "I believe it is every man's religious duty to get all he can honestly, and to give all he can."

True to that creed, he bestowed more than $500,000,000 on carefully-chosen philanthropies, transferred much of his holdings to the present head of the clan, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and died leaving what a family spokesman described as a "relatively small, very liquid" estate. Plans were made to return the body to the Rockefeller estate at Pocantico Hills, Tarrytown, N.Y., for funeral services, attended only by members of the family. Burial will be in Cleveland, where Rockefeller began his business career as a $450 a week bookkeeper assistant in 1855.

None of the immediate family was present at the end. Rockefeller, who would have been ninety-eight on July 8, had expressed confidence in recent years that he would live to be 100, and his condition had seemed to justify his optimism.

Friday, however, he seemed restless and unable to sleep, but even then Dr. Merryday did not become alarmed. That afternoon he spent about an hour in the open air. Yesterday morning he said he was "very tired" and decided to remain in bed all day. Dr. Merryday called frequently, and at noon, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., made a routine telephone call from New York and was assured there was nothing about his father's condition that required his presence in Florida.

In addition to his son, the immediate survivors include a daughter, Mrs. E. Parmelee Prentice, of New York; eight grandsons and three granddaughters.

IMMENSE INTERESTS

Founder of the Standard Oil Company, Rockefeller, at the height of his career, directed activities of thirty-three oil companies, controlled mines and mills, influenced policies of hundreds of corporations, in many forms of industry and was a heavy stockholder in trunk line railroads.

He was born July 8, 1839, at Richford, Tioga County, N.Y. His father was William Avery Rockefeller, a shrewd farmer and doctor, and his mother, Eliza Davidson, noted for piety and firm, but gentle, family rule.

After the family moved to Cleveland, Ohio, in 1853, John spent a year and a half in high school. Unable to afford a college course, he bought a course in a commercial school to learn bookkeeping and business theory.

FIRST EARNINGS

Then after a long search he found a job as assistant bookkeeper in the firm of Hewitt & Tuttle. He drew $50 for his first three months of work, for the next year he earned $25 a month and in the following year $50 a month.

At the age of eighteen he took $1.5 savings of $1,000, together with another $1,000 borrowed from his father, and opened a commission business in partnership with Maurice B. Clark, an Englishman. The business prospered and the young junior partner, Rockefeller, daringly assumed large financial obligations in order to expand it.

He became interested in oil when a strike in Pennsylvania in 1859 drew prospectors. Then he and his partner and Samuel Andrews organized Andrews, Clark & Company to refine oil. They built a small refinery near Cleveland. The business was put up at auction, by mutual consent, in 1865, and Rockefeller bought it in at $72,500. The firm became Rockefeller & Andrews and within five years became the Standard Oil Company of Ohio with a capitalization of $1,000,000.

A year before he bought up the oil partnership that founded his huge fortune, he married Laura Celestia Spelman, daughter of an Akron, Ohio, merchant. She died March 12, 1915.

Pipe Band of First Battalion, Scottish, Off for Big Fiesta

Twenty Pipers and Drummers, Commanded by Major Stuart Robertson, Will Represent Victoria At San Francisco Golden Gate Celebrations

TWENTY members of the pipe band, 1st Battalion, Canadian Scottish Regiment, under the command of Major Stuart Robertson, embarked yesterday afternoon for Seattle on the Princess Norah, en route to San Francisco, where they will represent Victoria at the Golden Gate Fiesta, which commences May 26.

To the hundreds who gathered at the C.P.R. dock to bid the little contingent God-speed, the scene was reminiscent of the days of twenty years ago when battalion after battalion of men, clad in the sombre khaki of the war years, embarked for the Eastern seaboard, England's Salisbury Plain, and France. There was a difference, however, in that the pipers wore Glengarry, green tunics and the Lennox tartan—the personal plaid of the late General R. G. Edwards-Leckie, first officer commanding the Canadian Scottish—and the drummers wore the scarlet tunic, feather bonnets and MacKenzie tartan, the plaid of the 72nd Regiment, Seaforth Highlanders of Canada.

HAVE FINE TRADITION
Thus, to San Francisco yesterday went a picked group of an officer, non-commissioned officers and men, representative of the best traditions of the Canadian militia and of four units which combined to make up the 16th Battalion, Canadian Scottish, C.E.F.—the Gordon Highlanders of Victoria, the Seaforth Highlanders of Vancouver, the Cameron Highlanders of Winnipeg and the Argyle and Sutherland Highlanders of London, Ontario.

The unit gathered at the Bay Street Armories at 3:30 p.m., where the pipes were tuned and inspected by A-Pipe Major A. Wallace, Lieut.-Col. J. R. Kingham, O.C. 1st Battalion, inspected the men, wished them good luck, and declared he knew they would uphold the best traditions of the regiment.

CARRY CITY'S BANNER
The men making the trip pointed proudly to the Pipe Major's ensign, which bears on one side the hand-woven crest of the Canadian Scottish, and on the other the crest of The Bruce, famous Scottish hero.

Preceded by a handsome green and white banner, carried by Sergeant R. C. Hall, "C" Company, and Sergeant H. Ploymann, "B" Company, on which is worked the inscription "Follow the Birds to Victoria," the pipers marched to the C.P.R. docks via Douglas, Yates and Government Streets. At the dock they were inspected by Mayor Andrew McGavin, representing the city; Capt. Norman Foster, representing the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, and T. E. Watkins, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The men entrained for Seattle for San Francisco last night at 11:30. They were expected to return to Victoria June 6.

QUARTERED AT ARMORIES
It is the first time since the war that a local unit has been absent from this city on foreign soil for a longer period than two days. In San Francisco, where they are assured of a cordial welcome, the men will be stationed at the National Guard Armories. It is probably the first time in history that men from a British Highland battalion have been so honored.

Though the production of whale oil today is about 30,000 tons, therefore, it will easily reach 100,000 tons.

CONVICTED MURDERER TAKEN AFTER ESCAPE

He was being held at Coalmont by Constables Dore and Blaney until the next train for Vancouver, from where he will be taken tomorrow to Oakalla Prison Farm to await his execution.

Macpherson was arrested and charged with murder at Fernie, March 8, 1936, a month after the body of Michael Hudock, with throat gashed, was found on a riverbank highway near there.

He was sentenced at the Spring Assizes in May last year to hang, but a stay of execution and a new trial were later granted. He was again convicted and sentenced at Cranbrook by Mr. Justice A. M. Hanson, May 21, after Mrs. Hudock, wife of the murdered man, testified she heard Macpherson muttering: "I killed him—I killed him."

CARS DAMAGED IN SAANICH ACCIDENT
Automobiles driven by Edward Woods, Saltspring Island, and Frank Gibson, James Island, were extensively damaged in a collision at the intersection of Tryon and Swartz Bay Roads shortly after 7 o'clock last evening. Provincial police report. Woods and his brother Herbert received slight injuries to their faces and limbs. Constable F. Clark attended.

OLD AGE PENSIONS
The old age pensions case presented issues somewhat different from the unemployment insurance case. In the latter a tax is levied on employers to build up a fund from which payments are made to men and women involuntarily out of work.

In the former a tax is paid by both employer and employee, based upon the amount of compensation. It was described by Justice Cardozo as "an income tax on employees" and an "excise tax on employers."

LAW PASSES COURT TEST
was upheld by six to four and the latter seven to two.

For the majority, Associate Justice Cardozo enumerated and flatly overruled all the contentions raised by counsel for the Charles C. Steward Machine Company of Alabama, which had attacked the unemployment insurance levy as unconstitutional.

The tax, Cardozo said, was an excise uniformly imposed, despite specified exemptions from its operation. Nor, he said, does its provision that 90 per cent of the tax be rebated to states having acceptable unemployment insurance laws of their own constitute a form of coercion upon the states nor an unconstitutional surrender by the latter of their constitutional rights.

ROUT "LOST BATTALIONS"

Insurgents Claim Additional Gains in Drive on Basque City

VICTORIA, Spain, May 24 (P).—Insurgent troops routed three "lost battalions" of Government soldiers tonight, in a swift charge up the slopes of mountains south of Amorebieta, nine miles east of Bilbao.

Prisoners captured included Basque and Asturian groups, apparently wandering about in the mountains without knowing their exact position and the close proximity of insurgents.

Insurgents occupied the entire area of hills and valleys between Amorebieta and the village of Yurre, a few miles to the south. Positions taken included the high peaks of Urteadoch and Pagacheta.

INSURGENTS CLOSING IN
Meanwhile, insurgents threatened to close in on the important highway junction of Lemona, only a mile from besieged Bilbao's "iron ring" defence line.

Capture of Lemona would bring the insurgents face to face with the Basque fortifications, relied upon by the Government as a last hope.

The Basque Defence Council admitted insurgent gains, but declared the advance cost heavy casualties to the insurgents.

A strong unit of Government airplanes arrived at Bilbao, materially strengthening that city's defences. Fifteen planes, which overshot their mark and landed in France last week, were believed to comprise the unit.

REPEATED AIR RAIDS
Insurgent planes made repeated air raids during the day, over Bilbao and outlying towns. The planes also dropped leaflets, again urging the Basques to avoid further destruction of towns by surrendering.

Government planes bombarded insurgent positions on the Santander front, east of Bilbao.

URGES HIGHER SALARIES FOR CHURCH HEADS

B.C. Conference Adopts Motion Asking $200 Raise in Ministers' Pay

NEXT MEETING SET FOR TERMINAL CITY

The closing session of the British Columbia Conference of the United Church yesterday morning saw the completion in good order of all scheduled business. Matters of routine occupied much attention, with the final reports of the home missions and settlement committees attracting most interest.

Speaking in connection with the home missions report, Rev. T. C. Colwell, B.A., Cape Mudge, urged the necessity for more favorable consideration of those engaged in home mission fields. Their salaries, he said, were in many cases below the church minimum and entirely inadequate for the needs of missionaries and their families.

Rev. E. F. Church and Rev. James Hood, Victoria, and Rev. Thomas Keyworth, Sidney, newly-elected president of the Victoria Presbytery, spoke in support of Mr. Colwell.

RESOLUTION ADOPTED
Rev. W. R. Brown, Victoria, moved that "in view of the rise of 30 per cent in the cost of living during the past four years, this conference memorialize the General Council urging that the minimum salary of ministers be raised from $1,200 to $1,400 yearly." The motion passed.

Dr. W. G. Wilson, Victoria, recommended that henceforth the church should undertake less work and pay its workers.

Also supporting the motion, Dr. Andrew Reid, Victoria, suggested that the church would obtain more support for home mission work if it stressed more emphatically the cause of foreign missions.

Among the resolutions passed by the conference on recommendation of the resolutions committee was one pressing upon General Council the importance of rebuilding, on its former site, the Alberni Indian Mission School, recently burned down.

The proposal, introduced by Rev. H. T. Allen, Nanaimo, advocating the equalization of ministers' salaries was discussed at some length. Dr. Willard Breving, Vancouver, was empowered to appoint a committee of urban and rural ministers to investigate the possibilities in this field. A resolution, addressed to the General Council, urged that body to take similar action.

UNION COLLEGE REPORT
A move to bring about the co-operation of the Fellowship for a Christian Social Order with Union College in preparing for a Summer school, to be held in 1938, was introduced and later withdrawn by members of the fellowship.

To this, Dr. J. G. Brown presented the annual report of Union College, and drew attention of all ministers to "the great need for an influx of men into the ministry in the immediate future."

A resolution asking the British Columbia Government to legalize credit unions was tabled for the further consideration of the conference when it meets again next year.

Alderman W. T. Strath, Victoria; Dr. G. H. Manchester, New Westminster; and Rev. C. H. Daly, Rossland, reported in their capacity as commissioners to last year's General Council.

The finance committee, through its convener, Rev. H. T. Allen, reported that conference expenses had been kept down to the level of last year, but that collections had dropped considerably.

On the invitation of the president, Dr. Breving, next year's conference will be held in St. Andrew's-Wesley Church, Vancouver, with the executive empowered to fix the date.

LEASK—Mrs. Mary B. Leask, widow of Alexander O. Leask, passed away on Friday, at the age of sixty-nine years. She had only been a resident of Victoria for a few months, and for about two years resided at Cobble Hill, going to that district from Scotland where she was born. She is survived by one son, Wing Commander P. A. O. Leask, Cobble Hill, at present in Toronto. Funeral service will be held in Haywards' B.C. Funeral Chapel to-day, at 2:30 p.m., Rev. E. M. Willis, Cobble Hill, officiating. The remains will be cremated and forwarded to Toronto for burial.

THE DAY OF RECKONING

During the present year British Columbia matriculates of $245,000, $200,000 and $300,000, totaling $745,000, will fall due. In the following year, 1938, matriculates of $1,000,000, $200,000, $200,000 and $100,000, totaling $1,500,000, will fall due. In 1939 the matriculates falling due are $3,000,000, $3,000,000, $2,000,000 and $300,000, totaling $8,300,000. In 1940 the debt to be met will be $1,361,500. The year in which the crux of British Columbia's financial problem—will have to be met is 1941, when the following matriculates will become due: $7,275,000, $2,000,000, $1,000,000, $340,000, $2,139,141, $999,945, $2,037,000, $1,649,000, $3,496,850, $1,000,000, $1,000,000, $500,000, $500,000 and $1,000,000, making a total of $24,536,936, which, together with the totals of the previous years, reaches an aggregate of $36,443,436.

The foregoing is not half the story of the obligations of the Province which will have to be met, or the payment of which will have to be postponed by arrangement or through conversion methods. There are Treasury Bills due to the Federal Government at three, six and nine months, totaling $32,000,000. There are Treasury Bills due to the bank totaling $9,940,906. There are Pacific Great Eastern guaranteed bonds falling due in 1942 and totaling $20,160,000. There is the latest of all loans, that for three years, 1937-1940, totaling $3,000,000, now being spent on pre-election work on the roads, and there is the sum of money raised to build the New Westminster Bridge, $3,000,000, which will mature within the life time of the Government to take office after June 1.

The foregoing obligations, falling due between now and 1942, total in the grand aggregate a sum of $100,944,342. That is what can be designated as British Columbia's financial problem, one of very considerable magnitude for a population of 700,000. It is what is going to be done about this that should constitute the major issue of the present election campaign. Obviously, no Government during the next five years can hope to liquidate these debts as they fall due. It must devise a policy whereby, from 1939 to 1942, some form of conversion will be possible, and to achieve this purpose it must win the confidence of the financial houses not only in the manner in which administration is conducted, but in the methods that have been devised politically to foster the development of British Columbia's resources.

It is not a death-bed repentance in the matter of spendthrift zeal that will inspire such confidence as will insure the conversion of this Province's maturing obligations. What is wanted is a system of rigid economy built up through the years. Premier Pattullo believes that the only possible thing for British Columbia to do is to go on borrowing, and yet that policy cannot fail to defeat plans for the conversion of maturing obligations. As it is, there is a heavy burden to be laid on the shoulders of posterity. Mr. Pattullo would increase that burden; "vogue la galere" is his motto. He has not given the faintest hint in all his electioneering pronouncements as to how the debt of British Columbia is to be met as it falls due. This surely is a matter in which the people, whose debt it is, are deeply implicated, and they have the right to know what any Government intends doing so as to preserve their credit intact.

To make possible conversion of maturing debts it is necessary that a programme of rigid economy should be put into effect. The day of reckoning is too close at hand to permit of any continuance of the wanton extravagance that has marked provincial administration in recent years. Mr. J. W. Jones, a former Minister of Finance, has pointed out that the Tolmie Government reduced expenditures by over $9,000,000 within three years, whereas the Pattullo Government has increased expenditures by $9,000,000 within three years. That is the chief indictment of the course pursued by the present Government. Because its revenue has grown through improved economic conditions it has engaged in lavish outlays without regard to the obligations that shortly will become due. It has been recreant in its duty in this regard, and that is emphasized by the fact that on April 1 last the provincial sinking funds were short to the tune of $12,000,000.

There is no preoccupation more necessary to a new Government than that of introducing drastic economies in administration. Unless that task is undertaken the people of British Columbia are facing an inevitable increase in taxation. It is folly to gamble on the possibility that conditions will become progressively better, without any setback. No shrewd business man would put his house in order on the basis of a possibility. He would consider that these are normal times, and cut his cloth accordingly. It should be the same with a Government, and especially with an Administration which must provide in some way or other to meet obligations aggregating over $100,000,000 within some five years' time. The only way is through conversion of by far the largest percentage of obligations that will mature during the life of the next Administration.

So that conversion may be made possible it is essential to secure the utmost confidence of the financial world. That will only be done if and when this Province puts a summary end to its era of spendthrift zeal, and in doing so reduces its annual outlay by several millions of dollars. It can do so without the cause of business government suffering one iota. Those who are wanted in power are those who pledged to the practice of economy; those who will look after the money of the taxpayers as if it was their own; those who will be prepared to give all their working hours to the task of solving British Columbia's financial problem.

It has become axiomatic here, as elsewhere, that the more Cabinet Ministers there are the greater are departmental expenditures. British Columbia is over-stuffed in this particular. The members of the present Government have found it possible to have long and frequent absences from their desks. They have spent a fortune in traveling expenses. Each has vied with the other in securing larger and larger appropriations for departmental purposes. Not one of them has been imbued with the doctrine that great savings must be effected if great obligations are to be met. Their plea for their return to power is on the basis of the money they have spent, not on the basis of the money they have saved, because the latter plea would be impossible. They are not pledging themselves to economy in any particular. They have given the public no inkling of what it is proposed should be done to meet maturing obligations. That Government, through its Prime Minister, is pledged to continuous borrowing. On June 1 it will be within the power of the people to say to whom they will entrust power and what policies they want put into effect so that the day of reckoning, which is so close at hand, may be met with confident assurance.

UNEMPLOYMENT RELIEF

Dr. J. D. Hunter, one of the city's Conservative candidates, makes it clear that Victoria is not receiving the same consideration from the Provincial Government in the matter of unemployment relief as it was up to 1936. During previous years the city was able to borrow its moneys for such relief from the Provincial Government, which, in its turn, borrowed from the Federal Government. Thus, through only having interest charges to pay, instead of providing the full sum needed for its share of relief, this municipality was able to avoid an increase in the mill rate. For the present year the Provincial Government has refused to loan the city a sum of approximately $100,000, which is needed as the municipality's share for unemployment relief. The result is that this sum has to be secured from the taxpayers. If it could have been borrowed, as in the past, taxation here could have been reduced by two mills.

Moreover, through the policy which led to the closing of relief camps for single men, this municipality has now to bear a proportion of the charge for this class of unemployed. The whole burden that falls on the city for relief purposes has now to be provided out of general revenue, as it is no longer possible to borrow it from the Provincial Government. These facts, pointed out by Dr. Hunter, do not substantiate the Provincial Government's claim that it is doing more than it ever did for the municipalities of the Province. The fact is that while the city's share for relief purposes has been reduced from 33 1/3 per cent of the total to 20 per cent, it now has to find the money itself, whereas before it was borrowed from the Provincial Government.

The Provincial Government is in possession of reports in respect to the Hedley Amalgamated Mining Company. Premier Pattullo, in his election manifesto, promised that, "with these reports," there would be a statement "as to the action which the Government intends to take." The voters are still awaiting this statement, and no doubt hope that it will not be postponed until a more convenient occasion.

A LOSING GAME

Nearly five years have elapsed since the Ottawa Conference, and ever since the Saorstát has been paying the amounts supposed to be withheld, to the British Treasury, just as effectively as if a cheque for the sum involved had been annually sent from Government Buildings to the British Exchequer. In 1935-36, for instance, $4,800,000 or so was withheld, but the British authorities collected $2,421,518 on the imports of livestock, agricultural and other products from this country. The withholding has been, therefore, simply notional. What is more, the Saorstát Government has by a series of what are really secret agreements aided the British Government to secure complete, and more than complete, recoupment. As matters stand there has been, on the part of President de Valera and his Government, a surrender without settlement.

Note and Comment

By Sandham Graves

If the Province of British Columbia spends a five-cent piece, five cents go into circulation, and no more. If, however, the citizens of British Columbia in their private capacity each spend a five-cent piece, $35,000 go into circulation. That, as well as anything will serve to illustrate the meaning of the fact that the people of this province, as distinct from their Governments, have started to spend once more. Nowhere was this expenditure more retarded, and more earnestly looked for, than in building and construction. It is, then, a fact of some importance that private building and commercial construction contracts are going up by leaps and bounds this year. Between January and April, inclusively, a total of $4,428,524 worth of new construction was undertaken in the province, in those centres which report their building permits to the press. That figure compared with $3,298,356 for the corresponding period last year, or a betterment of more than twenty-five per cent.

A survey of the weekly press in British Columbia, a close and accurate index of what people are doing and thinking, reveals the following works selected at random, but typical of the commencement of a wave of construction so long expected, and now, apparently, getting under way: Vancouver, $30,000 plant extension for Sidney Roofing Company, Ltd.; Tadana, Community Hall, $20,000, and $50,000 in change room, yard office and other buildings for Consolidated M. & S.; Nanaimo, $10,000 in wharf and office improvements for C.P.R.; Wynndel, 60,000-bushel elevator for Midland & Pacific Grain Corporation; Penticton, building permits up to $41,635 for four months, doubling total at same date last year; Duncan, permits doubled in first four months; West Vancouver, $210,000 in four months, as against $88,000 previously.

Nanaimo reported a shortage of skilled tradesmen, and had to bring carpenters in from outside to handle current works last month. There is much more to the reported lists of permits issued, but sufficient has been quoted to give the type of new work, and its wide diffusion throughout the province. It is worth noting that building for business purposes is in the lead.

The weekly press tells a graphic story of how people from Sidney to Atlin, from Port Alberni to the Crow's Nest, celebrated the Coronation. Columns, pages and even special editions at each centre in the province carried the account of the historic ceremony, the King's message to the British Commonwealth of Nations, and the reaction with which these momentous happenings were received at every city, town and hamlet in British Columbia. Indians on their several reservations took an immense interest in the proceedings, and sent messages of loyalty to the great white father. On the West Coast of Vancouver Island, Chinese banded together to submit an illuminated address of good will through the proper channels to the Throne itself. Parades, dances, sports, children's events, and every imaginable type of entertainment were held and enjoyed to the full. Fireworks and bonfires flared into the skies from the international border to the Yukon. Nor was there anything more expressive in all these demonstrations than the spontaneity and sincerity of the rejoicing. Victoria may well be proud of its own celebrations, but it was not a whit in advance of what took place at more than eighty municipal and organized settlements throughout the length and breadth of British Columbia. Few reigns have begun with such sincere and overwhelming acclaim on the part of the people.

Canada, it has already been said, is to have a special set of new coins to mark the beginning of the reign of Their Majesties King George VI and Queen Elizabeth. These will be issued soon and will include a dollar, fifty cents, twenty-five cents, ten cents, five cents, and one cent. The dollar piece will show a canoe manned by an Indian and a voyageur, with the Northern Lights in the background. The half-dollar will bear a replica of the armorial ensigns of Canada, surmounted by the Crown. A caribou head will grace the quarter-dollar, with the denomination shown between its antlers. The ten-cent piece will show a fishing schooner under full sail. The beaver and maple leaves will appear on the five-cent piece; while the cent will have maple leaves alone. On the obverse of all coins will be the effigy of King George VI. Preparation to mint the coins has been going forward for some time, with the assistance of Imperial and other mints. Some of the actual dies are being made in Paris, due to pressure on the Royal Mint. This column has not yet seen the date at which the new coins will go into circulation, but it should not be long now.

Cabinet Greeted With Tear Gas

SANTIAGO, Chile, May 24 (AP).—President Arturo Alessandri and members of his Cabinet rode to the opening of Parliament Saturday amid a barrage of tear gas bombs thrown by crowds along their route.

The mistletoe did no damage, however, except to cause considerable annoyance to troops lined along the street.

The Observation Car

By the Editorial Staff

Curious Fact
Nine minutes wonder: Who left his shoes in the gutter at the corner of Fort and Douglas Streets in broad daylight Saturday afternoon? Did he buy new ones nearby and just couldn't wait until he had changed them? Did he just step out of them and continue flannel-footed? Was he smitten with an echo of the adjuration: Put the shoes from off thy feet?—These are some of the questions put to us while we waited for the street-car, and why ask us?—F.O.A.

In Restraint of Trade

Bill, the Broad Street barber, was righteously indignant when we told him about Aubrey. "I spent twenty-five years learning my trade, cutting hair by candle light, getting up at four o'clock in the morning, visiting hospitals to shave patients on my day off, spending Summer vacations at home so I could afford new equipment, and now a man without a licence tries to take the bread out of my mouth," he moaned. And it all started from a simple little story. It appears that Aubrey borrowed an electric razor from a fellow clubman and enjoyed its smooth action so much on his own stubble that he shaved three friends on the spot. We managed to calm Willie down with a nickel cigar and the assurance that Aubrey charged nothing for the shaves. . . . Broad Street Bertie asked us if we ever heard of a sit-down strike on a cactus farm. In talking about dogs to our tobaccoist friend, we remarked that a dog fills an empty place in a man's life. "Do you mean a hot dog?" he asked. . . . Last week he finished work on his new garden. It was just big enough for his wife to look after. . . . We hear that every time his wife accompanies him on a shopping trip it becomes a lecture tour. . . . He always enjoys Sunday. He can sleep through a radio sermon without embarrassment.—G.B.

Elections

Spring is so well advanced that it is affecting our candidates for election. In Vancouver the other day, the Premier, flanked by the stalwarts of his party, by guest artists, and an orchestra, broke into poetry, thrusting out his firm jaw, so the press of the Terminal City tells us, and declaiming: "Come one, come all; this rock shall fly from its firm base as soon as I." . . . That, of course, is as it should be. After all, if the good people of Vancouver knew that the Premier was to recite, they would not only go to hear him in increasing numbers, but would leave dull lectures by opposition candidates, forego the Monday night bridge club, or possibly even pass choir practice by. . . . There is far too much of this preaching to the converted at election times. Instead of Conservatives attending Conservative meetings, and the Liberals, Reconstructionists, C.C.F.-ers, Communists, and others listening to their own candidates, there should be one night set aside in which Tim Buck should appear before the Tories, Mr. Connell before the Liberals, Mr. Pattullo before the C.C.F., and Dr. Patterson before the Communists. . . . Exhausted candidates, and newspapermen trying to keep up with them, will be heartily pleased when the campaign is over.—B.G.

Glancing Over Sport

What a stiff fine Lingle Van Mungo, ace pitcher of the Brooklyn pitching staff, received the other day for swinging at one of his teammates before the squad took the field against the Cardinals. . . . He was told to pay a penalty of $1,000 and take three days' rest to think it over. . . . It's a good job he didn't toss a few of the opposition. . . . Do you know that the owner of Seabiscuit, winner of last Saturday's $10,000 race at Bay Meadows, was reported to be in the city the same day? I traced him here and there, and couldn't locate him, but according to authentic information, he was in Victoria for a coming stay. . . . I thought it was coming sooner or later. Spencer Abbott, manager of the Seattle Indians, was given his outright release last Saturday. The way the club has been handled this season it's no wonder a new boss was appointed. And how the Sound City scribes boosted him to the heavens when he arrived to take over the reins. . . . Visiting golfers had a word of praise for the fine condition of the fairways and greens of the Uplands course during the recent British Columbia golf championship. . . . If you have a good caddy it makes a lot of difference between victory and defeat in an important tournament. Several matches could have been won at Uplands if the baggots were on his job. . . . I see where the Lewistown Ball Club finally broke the ice. They won a game after dropping twenty-three straight, a world's record.—J.D.

POLITICAL SUGGESTIONS

Sir, A possible cure to the useless effort exercised by all vote-splitters at an election, so ably set forth by you in last Thursday morning's Colonist editorial, might be:

"The members of the Legislature shall from among themselves elect the Premier, the Cabinet, the Speaker, etc., and no person shall be allowed within the precincts of the Legislature under any pretext whatsoever while the assembly is in session except the member's attendant."

At first blush one might think the Premier thus elected would always be the leader of a party returned to power—and it may be so, also it may not be so.

As to the Cabinet being picked by the Premier being sustained by the members, we only have to think back as far as the last election to realize there may easily be upsets here.

More than one Speaker has suggested that he be made a fixture, on the plea that he is non-partisan in office. Surely, then, the election of that incumbent by a majority of members, is a decided improvement on the fixture proposal; as to the plea itself, it is void of any foundation in fact.

It would seem the cheapest and safest method of electing a responsible Legislature would be for each electoral district to choose its own independent representation, which, of course, would mean government by independents; but, as it can be clearly proven that opportunity would arise whereby any Independent might easily be as astute enough to exercise the gentle art of blackmail, either for personal or district gain, this system should be allowed to stay in the discard forever and ever, thus leaving party government, with the probable further strengthening thereof as here suggested, to still hold sway.

H. P. WINSBY.
1639 Pemberton Road, Victoria, B.C., May 22, 1937.

WOMEN'S FRANCHISE

Sir,—With further reference to the campaign that is being conducted by the lady Liberal candidate and her supporters in Victoria, I think that it is relevant to remind the women electors that votes for women were first initiated in this province by a Conservative Government, led by the late Mr. Bowser. In 1916 a referendum was submitted to the electors under the Woman Suffrage Act of the session of 1916, as a result of which the Provincial Elections Act was amended to make it lawful for women "to have their names placed upon the register of voters for an electoral district and to vote at any election of members to serve in the Legislative Assembly."

This movement, initiated by the then Conservative Government, was later implemented by a Liberal Government, which in doing so merely carried out the wishes of the people, so that the honors are even between the parties and there is no need for either to make a virtue out of a necessity.

The women electors are more concerned in obtaining stability, security and integrity in government than they are in returning any individual member of their sex to the Legislature.

The average woman is prevented by home and family ties from taking part in public life, but in every party there are intelligent women who take a rightful place in influencing the policies that are from time to time submitted to the people.

ROBERT D. HARVEY.
603-606 Central Building, Victoria, B.C., May 22, 1937.

POLITICAL EXPENDITURE

Sir,—In listening to the many plausible explanations of the Liberal party in this election campaign, the voters of British Columbia should keep these facts in mind. . . . The actual debt of the Province has now reached the staggering sum of $182,000,000, an increase of $16,000,000 since they took office, with nothing of practical value to show. . . . The Health Insurance Act was a direct taxation of one portion of the populace only, who are yet paying the salaries of the commission; another example of the Liberal party's contempt of saving the public funds. . . . Although this one portion of the public was to be taxed, everyone is allowed to vote on the plebiscite. . . . Three and a half years they have dictated to you, and are now feeding you with the golden spoon you have paid for. If you are foolish enough to swallow this slush you will deserve all the restrictions to personal liberty they will impose upon you; if you vote for these restrictions you are voting away your liberties one by one.

The flutter in road-building now in progress is purely and simply for election purposes. For this you, not they, are paying. The Government itself owns nothing, earns nothing or produces nothing. You pay for all they do, even when they restrict, dictate and willfully waste your money. A sane, progressive administration is needed, without the hare-brained, impractical cure-all experiments for which you so dearly pay.

Such a policy each individual Conservative candidate has pledged himself strictly to follow and it behooves every taxpayer to support him.

"SAVE THE CHILDREN"

Sir,—Having been asked to say a few words on behalf of this work, I shall limit myself to that part of it in which it is my privilege to share, which means supporting two little boys in Aleppo in Greece.

One of them, the older, Horvaz Azadlan, now a youth, often writes me. They live in a miserable little street, as he puts it—dirty in Summer, muddy in Winter, and in spite of such a condition I never saw more dainty work sent out of any home than the little lace collars, cuffs, mats, etc., the mother made as a thank-offering to me for befriending them.

Ottawa . . . in a matter of swift hours instead of dreary days . . . via Northwest Airlines . . . head treasurer of this fund, London, England, wrote me that the Asadlan but was to be destroyed, and what would become of them she didn't know; so I sent $60 to provide a place for them, for which they were profoundly grateful; but it has not been built yet.

My last message was that Horvaz had gone to Damascus to make sandals, and was remaining there if successful; if not he must return to Aleppo. His great ambition is to find sufficient work wherewith to support his mother and younger brother.

Twenty-five dollars a year is the adoption fee, which means schooling and two meals a day. Surely there are some people in Victoria who would be glad to do this. It means so much to these little children. Of course one can do more—send them Christmas presents and write them. Anyone may send through our fund friend and treasurer here, Mr. W. H. Davies, 1008 Broad Street. If you cannot adopt one or more children, may I suggest that small sums be donated to support this work, for it is a work that befriends children in so many parts of the world, even our own prairies being included, and your forgetfulness means that the treasury often holds but a meagre supply.

Do please think of it and as you love your Christ, do something for the love you bear toward His and the helpless little children.

Skipper of Endeavour 1 Explains Parting of Tow-Line in Mid-Atlantic

NEWPORT, R.I., May 24 (AP).—Harbor craft and factories tied down their whistles late today when T. O. M. Sopwith's Endeavour II, after 1,000 miles of lonely sailing, sometimes in gales reached this port from Gosport, England.

The racing sloop, which will contest with her sister ship, the Endeavour II, for the honor of challenging the United States' entry for the America's Cup off here next month, completed her trip as she started it—at the end of a tow line from the motor yacht Viva II. In 1934, Endeavour unsuccessfully challenged for the cup.

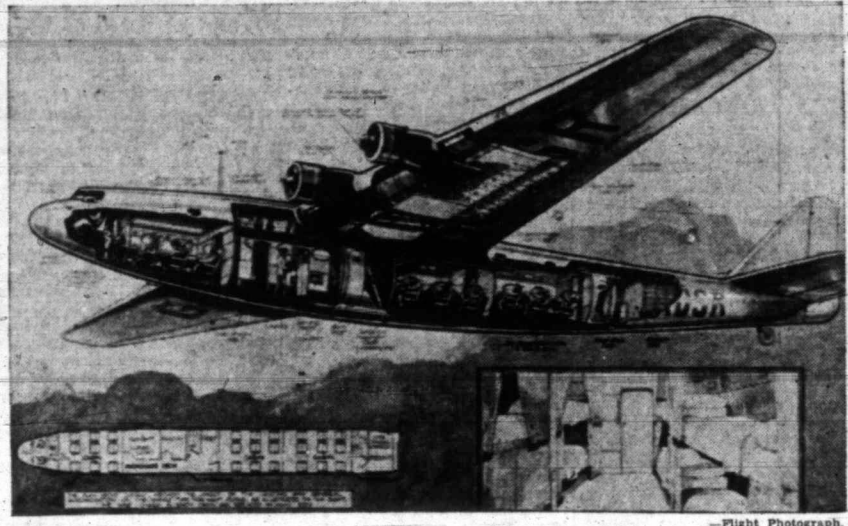

Nine days ago, in mid-Atlantic, the Viva and Endeavour I parted company in a heavy gale. Captain Ned Heard, Endeavour's skipper, said today the parting was by his orders.

HEAVY GOING

"We cut the hawser loose ourselves," Heard said, discussing the final separation. "It was coming on night, we had a head wind and we were having heavy going of it, so we dropped the tow."

Heard minimized the danger to his craft and crew of nineteen. The Endeavour II, which left Gosport at about the same time as today's arrival, now is undergoing refitting at a Bristol shipyard. Sopwith plans to race with his craft in trial runs and then select his entry.

NANTUCKET, Mass., May 24 (AP).—An aviator and a newspaperman in a plane, last night located T. O. M. Sopwith's missing racing yacht.

Drawing, by a flight artist, showing the internal arrangement of the new twenty-ton Armstrong White-worth monoplane air liner, of which fourteen are being built for Imperial Airways. In addition to providing luxurious living and sleeping accommodation, these new craft will be the fastest air liners of their size in the world, capable of speeds of more than 200 miles per hour.

CIRCLED CONTENDER

David Raub, the pilot, and Joseph Indio, representing the Associated Press, circled the British contender for the America's Cup about a dozen times, they reported, and flew low enough to pick up close range views of the craft.

"We dropped down as low as we dared," Indio said, "and were able to get a very close view of the Endeavour. Everything aboard seemed shipshape. The lifeboats were all intact and there was no sign of any damage."

All sails were set and the yacht seemed to be making good progress toward Newport."

INSTRUCTOR OF FIRST AID HERE

VANCOUVER, May 24.—A class of 450 first aid students passed their St. John Ambulance Association examinations following training by Frederick Blakeman, Canadian Pacific Railway's first aid instructor for western lines.

This is the largest class of rail-roads ever "graduated" on the Coast. Completing his series of lectures here, Mr. Blakeman left for Victoria over the week-end to start classes at Victoria. For the next seven weeks he will lecture to railwaymen in Victoria for four days, a day in Nanaimo and another day in North Bend.

A novice team trained by Mr. Blakeman in Vancouver won the novice shield in recent competitions, and will shortly be entered in the Provincial and Monticombert shield competitions.

"With a wife and family to support, I couldn't save $6,000 in a hundred years. But I've just found a plan that makes one worth that much to my family. It's the North American Life Preferred Policy. If anything happens to me, they'll get $50 a month for 10 years—long enough for the kids to get a start at earning their own living."

"And there's something in it for me too—an income for the rest of my life when I'm 65—and dividends every year on this profit-sharing plan."

If you are in good health and can afford $25 cents a day, you can provide this protection for your family.

be erected in America by the Rosicrucians during 1937.
Emulating the great pyramid of Cheops built 5,000 years ago, the Rosicrucian pyramid will also be a temple of learning. Its stone chambers will be numbered to correspond to the degrees of advancement of the students who will occupy it.
Alice M. Bonshor, 534B Simcoe Street, Victoria Amore Rosicrucian representative, said she was informed by the secretary of the philosophical order in San Jose, Cal., that, like the pyramid of Gizeh, the one to be erected in America, will be windowless and the entrance to it will be subterranean. The interior will reflect the skill of modern engineering. Indirect lighting will illuminate the passageways and all lighting fixtures will be concealed. The temperature will be kept at 68 degrees F., which is the constant temperature of the interior of the great pyramid.

FIVE C'S IN CRICKET WIN

Defeat Victoria "B," 73-57
—Albions and Victoria "A" Play to Draw

In friendly cricket matches played here Saturday, Five C's defeated Victoria "B," 73 to 57, at Macdonald Park, and Albions and Victoria "A" played to a draw at Beacon Hill Park when time would not permit of the game being finished.
Rev. F. A. Comley paved the way to victory for the churchmen with a well-played 34 not out. Going in at the first wicket, the veteran cricketer was unbeatable. F. Bosom, who scored 22, was the only member of the home side to make a good score.
Meredith, of the Victoria Club, and Rev. Mr. Bolster, of the Five C's, shared the bowling honors, taking five wickets for 17 runs and five wickets for 20 runs respectively.
Brilliant batting by V. Pritchard and E. D. Freeman, of the Albions, and G. C. Grant, of the Victoria side, was the highlight of the drawn game at Beacon Hill Park.
Albions batted first and scored 148 runs. Victoria had replied with 114 for eight wickets when stumps were drawn.

EDMONTON, May 24 (P)—Cash estimated at $500 was taken by cracksmen who, Saturday night, early Sunday, broke into the office of Canadian Bakeries, Ltd., here, loaded a 1,000-pound safe in one of the bakery's trucks, drove out to bushlands in a sparsely-settled part of the city and vanished after blasting the strongbox with nitroglycerine.

HE ATE ALL-BRAN AND IMPROVED WONDERFULLY

Read this voluntary letter: "In regard to your ALL-BRAN, it is marked on the package 'best as a cereal, best for cooking,' and, as far as I am concerned, you might add 'best for health.' Since I have begun to eat it, I have improved wonderfully."—Mr. H. E. Poole (address on request).
ALL-BRAN corrects common constipation, due to meals low in "bulk." Within the body, it absorbs water, and forms a soft mass, gently springing out the system.
ALL-BRAN also supplies vitamin B to tone up the intestines, and iron for the blood. Isn't this food better than taking weakening pills and drugs?
Eat two tablespoonfuls daily, either as a cereal with milk or cream, or in recipes. In chronic cases, with each meal. Sold by all grocers. Made and guaranteed by Kellogg in London.

GOLF FACTS NOT THEORIES

Alan Morrison

The way some foursores string along the course, they should have a traffic cop to direct them. During the last week I played in such a foursome, with three players who not only didn't score well, but also lacked knowledge of the rules and etiquette of the game. These regulations are for the good of everyone on the course as was demonstrated.
I tried to keep an eye on all three players to make sure that they wouldn't hit someone with a club or the ball, but one player failed to heed my warnings. He crossed in front of another player just as a brassie shot was being hit. The ball traveled right for his head with considerable speed. Fortunately it missed him, but I think the scare taught him a lesson.
Anyone who has been hit with either club or ball will tell you that he doesn't want the performance repeated. Untold damage can be done in the twinkling of an eye. And it is so unnecessary. The best rule is always to remain behind the ball that is being hit. This is a matter of safety and courtesy.

KING AND QUEEN AT EMPIRE DAY SERVICE

chancel, read the lesson from Deuteronomy xxix.

IN PROVIDENTIAL SCHEME

The Archbishop of York preached the sermon.
"If we believe at all in Divine Providence, we cannot doubt that so great and distinctive a fact as the British Empire has its place in the Providential scheme," declared the Archbishop. Most Rev. William Temple.

"Its very existence constitutes our vocation. If we are both patriots and Christians, we shall take pride in every aspect of the Empire which qualifies it for the service of God's kingdom."

"The ground for our pride in the Empire surely is the freedom of fellowship which unites the self-governing Dominions in freely-offered loyalty to the Throne, the traditional and ideal equality before the law of the many races composing it, the maintenance of even justice throughout its borders, and ready co-operation with others in the common task of civilization."

ALL-IMPORTANT VIGILANCE

"If these be the ground of our pride, we shall be vigilant to notice and check whatever mars the perfection of our adherence to these principles and shall devote our energies to keeping our great inheritance ever more true to its distinctive character."

The Royal procession to St. Paul's was simple, but that did not diminish the enthusiasm of the thousands lining the route. The only escort for the Royal landau was comprised of half a dozen mounted policemen and two outriders wearing scarlet jackets.

HOW TO OVERCOME ITCHING PILES
If you are annoyed with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not neglect the same or run the risk of an operation. Any itching, soreness or painful passage of stool is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once. For this purpose get from MacFarlane and Vancouver Drug Stores or any druggist a package of Hemoroid and use as directed. This formula, which is used internally, quickly relieves the itching and soreness and aids in healing the sore, tender spots. Hemoroid is a physician's prescription and is highly recommended. It is easy to use, and it seems the height of folly for anyone to risk an operation when a simple remedy, which is so pleasant to use, may be had at such a reasonable cost. Adv.

SNYDER SETS RACE RECORD

Qualifies at Indianapolis Track at Speed of 130 Miles for Single Lap

INDIANAPOLIS, May 24 (P)—Jimmy Snyder, the Chicago milkman turned race driver, stole the show at the Indianapolis motor speedway late Saturday by setting an amazing record of 130.499 miles an hour for a single lap.

Bill Cummings, Indianapolis, who won the pole position for the 500-mile race during qualifying trials last week-end, held the previous one-lap record of 125.139 miles an hour.

A terrific rainstorm and a high wind kept the drivers off the track until late in the afternoon, and not a single pilot, including Snyder, qualified for the annual racing grind May 31.

Snyder moved onto the starting line with his six-cylinder car just ten minutes before the closing time of 7 p.m.

Including Cummings, who holds the ten-lap twenty-five-mile qualifying record of 123.445 miles an hour, only twelve drivers have qualified for the 500-mile race. Approximately thirty-two others are ready to attempt to win the remaining twenty-one places in the starting line-up.

Beats Track Record

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., May 24 (P)—Milton Wallace, of Toronto, today clipped 2 1/4 seconds off the Canadian ten-mile record that has stood for fourteen years. Wallace went the distance in 52 minutes and 22 seconds. Stuart Allan, vice-president of the Miller race, who set the original mark, presented the victor's cup to Wallace.

Miss Garratt Is Bride of Mr. Parker

A pretty wedding was solemnized last evening, in the Garden City United Church, when Rev. William Allan united in marriage Miss Emma, daughter of Mrs. A. Garratt, of Yorkshire, England, and Mr. William John Parker, Kenneth Street, Saanich.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. E. Proctor, Vancouver, the bride looked charming in a floor-length gown of Coronation blue crepe de Chine. The bodice was trimmed with pipings of pink satin and rows of self-covered buttons were used on the back and on the sleeves. A brilliant clasp was worn at the neckline and a pink satin sash completed the costume, with which were worn a small blue turban trimmed with small velvet flowers and a short nose veil. She carried an arm bouquet of pink carnations, sweet peas and fern.

The attendants attending the bride were Mrs. A.

Langridge, as matron of honor, in a pale yellow frock and the bridesmaid was Miss Blanche Parker, in pink. Both gowns were made of figured organdie becomingly fashioned with lace edged shoulder capes and sashes of chiffon velvet ribbon in matching shades. The attendants wore coronets of velvet flowers to match their gowns, and silver slippers. A bouquet of pink anemones was carried by the bridesmaid, while that carried by the matron of honor was of mauve and yellow blossoms.

Mr. George Parker, brother of the groom, was best man. The church was effectively decorated with a profusion of early summer flowers and during the signing of the register Mr. Harry Proctor, a cousin of the bride, sang "Because" accompanied by Miss Elsie Fryatt, who also played the wedding marches.

THE RECEPTION

After the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Parker, 3075 Washington Avenue, where Mrs. E. Proctor, aunt of the bride, in a black and white figured silk gown and Mrs. Parker in a thistle colored floral silk crepe frock, with matching accessories, welcomed the guests. Both wore corsage bouquets of carnations.

and sweet peas. During the reception, the bride and groom stood beneath a white bell suspended from a pink and white arch.

The rooms were decorated with pink, blue and white streamers, white narcissi and pink tulips, and in the dining-room a three tier wedding cake, flanked with pink tapers in crystal sconces, centred the refreshment table, which was laid with a flax cloth.

The bride and groom are spending a short honeymoon on a motor trip to up-island points and on their return will reside on Kenneth Street. For going away, the bride wore a grey boucle tweed suit, a grey hat and matching accessories.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Proctor, Mr. Harry Proctor, Mrs. G. Langridge and son, George, and Mr. and Mrs. R. Keil, Vancouver.

COMMON SENSE NOT LOGIC TIES EMPIRE

toast to the British Commonwealth of Nations. The audience of 1,200 sang "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow," and cheered loudly.

Discussing emigration from Great Britain, which led to building up the Empire, Baldwin recalled the first migrants to Canada took with them the Catholicism and culture of France, Britons following later.

LASTING LOYALTY

"In those days of secular conflict with France it was inevitable there should have been fighting, but there is nothing more wonderful or more auspicious for the future than to remember how within a generation of the last fight on that soil between the French and English people, those two nations combined in Canada to resist an attempt to lower their common flag, and that mutual loyalty has grown and lasted to this day," he said.

Baldwin said no greater honor could fall to any man than to propose a toast to the British Commonwealth of Nations. He termed himself "A home-keeping man, much occupied in this little island."

After tracing the Empire's development, he described it as "the greatest political experiment that has yet been tried in the world—an experiment, the success of which may mean much to mankind; the failure of which may mean disaster."

A HAPPY THOUGHT

It was a happy thought, Baldwin continued, "that as the speaker for the Dominion tonight, we have our old friend Mr. Mackenzie King, from whom, by his position of seniority among the Prime Ministers and from the history of Canada, no man is better qualified to speak both for that great dominion and on behalf of the Empire."

The Prime Minister praised the

SCOUTS ARE IN ST. PAUL

Arthur Freeman and Philip LaFortune Have Covered 2,097 Miles

Arthur Freeman and Philip LaFortune, of the First Cowichan Scout Troop, are now well on their way across the continent and are spending a few days in St. Paul, according to a letter received by their scoutmaster, O. Phillipowsky.

En route to the boy scout jamboree in Washington, D.C., on June 30, the boys left Victoria April 21. Since that date they have cycled 2,097 miles without accident and only one puncture. They will probably arrive in Chicago, June 4.

In the letter the two scouts paid high tribute to the generosity of the American people. They have been welcomed at the homes of scouts every night since leaving here, and made many friends whom they will see again at the jamboree.

RENDER FIRST AID
Blistering under a ninety degree sun, the boys, and young Freeman in particular, have experienced the discomforts of sunburn; fought their way through two dust storms; and while traveling through Idaho, rendered first aid to a motorcyclist severely injured in a crash. How they long for the sight of trees once more.

Through the kindness of a scoutmaster in Livingston, North Dakota, who drove them through Yellowstone Park, they were able to witness the beauties of this scenic playground without getting behind in their schedule. In Fargo they were shown through the capital buildings, and lectured before high school students. They intend to speak before more school children before reaching their goal.

Four days ahead of their schedule, LaFortune and Freeman are looking forward to witnessing a big league baseball game. They send their kindest regards to their many friends on the island.

DERBY FAVORITE SLIGHTLY HURT

Perfox Receives Jarred Joint and Causes Anxiety Among Backers

NEWMARKET, Suffolk, May 24 (AP).—William Woodward's colt Perfox, second favorite for the Derby to be run at Epsom a week from Wednesday, today suffered from a jarred joint, which caused considerable anxiety among his thousands of backers.

In the last callover of odds, the American-bred son of Gallant Fox was backed at 13 to 1. Veremond de St. Alary's Two Thousand Guineaes winner, Le Ksar, is the favorite at 11 to 2.

Two other Derby candidates, the Aga Khan's Le Grand Duc and Major J. S. Courtland's Solfo, have slight heel trouble, but their handlers said they were little the worse for it. Le Grand Duc went six furlongs today and Solfo five, both at half speed.

Perfox came quickly into prominence a couple of weeks ago, after winning in impressive style the

PYROTECHNICS END HOLIDAY

Crowds Watch Exhibition of Fireworks as Victoria Day Celebration Closes

A jostling, good-natured, "Oh-ing" and "Ah-ing!" cheering and whistling crowd framed the Inner Harbor for three-quarters of an hour last evening during the fireworks display that brought to a close the city's contribution to the successful Victoria Day celebration.

A star-spitting detonation at 8:45, followed by the apparition of a hissing scythe of flame that clove the sky, announced the opening of the splendid display of lancework designs. In rapid succession, and always with the accompaniment of deafening and boisterously cheerful sputtering, coughing, crackling, hissing or deep reverberating boom, jewel-filled shell after jewel-filled shell was sent rocketing high above shipmasts, roofs and low-lying clouds, smoke to burst and rain its scintillating treasures upon the applauding throngs below.

COLOR BARRAGE

Among the most spectacular and novel designs were the Hitts flash octopus, which hung suspended above the harbor for measurable moments waving its incandescent tentacles from a central core of flame; the triple-headed flash and sound rockets that sent erratic bullets of fire jerking this way and that across the sky; the detonating Boomah rockets; the deafening seventy-two unit aerial battle barrage, which must have brought memories of the war back to some of the war veteran spectators; the gaily-patterned Screen of Cashmere, Color Barrage; a glorious piece called "Peacocks' Plume," with scores of "eyes" of Chinese blue and green suddenly scattered broadcast with the explosion of a ball of flame; a fountain and color-screen combination; a flight of fiery whirlwinds; an "over-the-top bombardment," much noise followed by much smoke; two "Niagara Falls," which, as their name suggested, presented an almost unbroken sheet of sparklets; a "Whistling Glowworm Eruption," which announced its advent with a thin whistle before revealing the glowing slow-fading inches of light high above the watchers' heads.

CORUSCATING CLIMAX

The display ended with a climatic outburst of noise and color in the brilliant "Venetian Sunset," a transformation wheel display; a five-minute water-level exhibition that had the effect of floodlighting everything around the Inner Harbor, showing up the myriads of spectators perched about the hoardings, roofs, windows, and various craft; and a mammoth "Crazy Clown" wheel display.

Altogether, it was a very fine show, enhanced by the brilliant setting of the Parliament Buildings, Empress Hotel and Post Office etched in electric lights.

LEGIONNAIRES VISIT BERLIN

Canadian War Veterans Honor Memory of German Military Leaders

BERLIN, May 24 (AP).—A Canadian Legion party at noon today honored the memory of Baron Richthofen, German war ace, who was shot down in 1918 by the Canadian, Roy Brown.

The Canadians arrived at Invaliden Cemetery, where Brigadier-General Alex Ross, president of the Canadian Legion, deposited a laurel wreath while German Air Force soldiers presented arms.

The Canadian party, which arrived in Berlin yesterday on a good will visit, then observed a few minutes of silent prayer. Later they visited the grave of General Hans von Seeckt, creator of the post-war German Reichswehr, and then departed for the cenotaph.

TROOPS ARE INSPECTED

Three columns of the German Front Line Fighters' Legion were inspected by General Ross. The Dominion leader then laid a large wreath, designed in Canadian colors, inside the monument, and the German army honor sentry presented arms to the tune of "Good Comrade."

The British and German National Anthems were played, whereupon General Ross and the Canadian party took the salute in a march past of the goose-stepping German war veterans while hundreds of spectators along the Unter den Linden saluted.

The Canadian veterans relaxed at a vaudeville show tonight after a round of official engagements.

In the only "D" section game on the programme, Coopers and Odd Fellows meet at Victoria West Park. All games commence at 6:15 o'clock.

ESPLEY TAKES THREE EVENTS

Rides Well at Victoria Motorcycle Club Race Meet—Stevens Wins Trial

Winner of the annual Mount Douglas Hill climb last year, blond-thatched Bill Espley, young Victoria speed demon, yesterday guided his "iron steed" to victory in three of the seven events staged at Rithet's Farm, Royal Oak, by the Victoria Motorcycle Club.

Between 500 and 600 fans witnessed the holiday meet and were thrilled by the speed made by the machines as they roared over the hazardous course. The card had all of the attendant thrills and spills looked for in motorcycle racing programmes. Four or five of the boys spilled during the afternoon, but after biting the dust they were able to "climb aboard" and continue.

ESPLEY WINS

Forging to the front right at the start, Bill Espley raced to victory in the four-lap event for seventy-four cubic-inch motors. Reg Shanks was second and Vic Stevens third. The riders held the same positions throughout the race.

Trailing for three laps, Johnny Norrington passed the field and came home first in the four-lap event for forty-five cubic-inch motors. Charlie Davies was second and Jim Worswick third. Frank Jarvis took a spill on the last lap and finished fourth in a field of four.

Making the four laps in 3:22 1-5, Bill Espley won the open event in record time. Frank Jarvis finished second; Vic Stevens third and Reg Shanks fourth.

Vic Stevens won the one-lap time trial when he circled the course in 30.3, while Bill Espley and Charlie Davies shared the honors in the hill climb.

Results follow:
Time Trials—1, Vic Stevens, 30.3-5; 2, Bill Espley, 30.4-5; 3, Frank Jarvis, 32.4-5; 4, Reg Shanks, 33.1-5; Charlie Davies, 33.4-5; 6, Jim Worswick, 34.1-5; 7, Johnny Norrington, 34.4-5.

Sonnenberg and Don Clarke May Show This Week

PROMOTER Fred Richardson, local wrestling impresario, yesterday took steps to line up "Dynamite" Gus Sonnenberg, former heavy-weight champion, and Donald "Honeychild" Clarke, Boston grappler, for the top bout of Saturday's grunt and groan show at the Tillicum gymnasium. They were billed for the headline match of last Saturday's card, which was canceled when Sonnenberg was injured the night previous at Seattle. Rather than bring over a substitute for the main event the local promoter called off the card. Richardson is also planning on landing Milo Steinborn, German heavy-weight, for Saturday's show.

YOUNG SOUTH AFRICAN GOLF STAR SHINES

D'Arcy Locke Steals Spotlight as Play Opens in British Amateur

SANDWICH, England, May 24 (AP).—The spotlight swung on the spectacular exploits of Arthur D'Arcy Locke, nineteen-year-old South African phenomenon, as the first round of the British amateur golf championship was contested here today.

Locke, picked in advance as a probable finalist for the crown relinquished by the Scot, Hector Thomson, due to ill health, burned up the Royal St. George's layout to defeat C. C. Trautner, of Silver Spring, Md., 7 and 5.

The youthful South African, holder of the amateur and open titles of his native Dominion, went out in thirty-three, to turn seven up. Trautner could not face that kind of sharpshooting and used up forty-nine strokes on the first nine holes.

Most of the British favorites advanced easily into the next round, although there was some eyebrow lifting over the defeat of Francis Francis by the veteran E. B. Tipping at the nineteenth hole, and of Leonard Crawley, former Walker Cup player, by Jocelyn Walker, one up.

Cyril Tolley, long-hitting Englishman, who held the title in 1920 and 1929, ousted J. F. MacDonald, 4 and 3, and Dr. William Tweedell, champion in 1927 and finalist against Lawson Little in 1935, beat Harry Bentley, 3 and 2.

Cecil Ewing, Gordon Peters and Alec Hill, all members of the last British Walker Cup team, turned in opening round victories. Hon. Michael Scott, surprise winner of the championship in 1933, overcame S. W. Jacobs, two up, and Frank Fenwick, current English titleholder, downed the veteran John Beck, 4 and 3.

Lister Hartley, former Walker Cup star, eliminated Fred Gutmann, of Berlin, 5 and 4. Five United States players teed off and four met sudden death in the face of an English, French and South African onslaught. Only John Levinson, 1936 New England champion, survived. He eliminated W. A. Stevenson, of Great Britain, 4 and 3.

The other Americans, part of a contingent of eleven that appears to contain no great threat, were Richard Lunn, Washington, D.C.; John Forshaw, Mamaroneck, N.Y.; A. V. Rogers, Winchester, Mass., and Trautner.

Lunn lost to Jacques Leglise, French champion, 3 and 2. Forshaw met a 4-and-3 defeat from W. H. Macdonald, Great Britain, and Rogers lost to G. H. Micklem, of the home club, 3 and 2.

INTER-STORE SOCCER WON BY VICTORIA

Blank Spencer's, Vancouver, 3-0, in Cup Football Fixture—Retains Trophy

Spencer's Victoria soccer eleven retained the J. W. Spencer Cup, symbolic of the inter-store football championship, yesterday morning at the Royal Athletic Park, when they defeated Spencer's Vancouver, 3-0, in the final game of the home-and-home total-goal series for the silverware.

Mainlanders registered a 3-1 triumph in the first game, played on Good Friday at Vancouver, and took the field yesterday with a two-goal lead. Victoria sliced the margin to one goal before the breather, when Bobby Brown, right winger, garnered the only tally of the initial stanza.

In the final forty-five minutes of play the locals scored twice, with Brown and "Shorty" Collins sharing the scoring honors.

It was the fourth straight victory for the Victoria team, holders of the cup since it was donated four years ago by J. W. Spencer, Victoria, director of David Spencer's Limited.

Prior to the start of yesterday's match, F. Smith, president of the Victoria club, introduced F. A. Spencer, Vancouver, who kicked off.

SOUND DEFENCE
With their defence sound and unbeatable all afternoon, the local soccer eleven was able to pull out of the game on the right side of the score. Vancouver had the better of the play and had many more scoring chances, but instead of firing for the goal they tried to literally walk the ball into the Victoria net, something they were not capable of doing.

Victoria's halfback line of Les Bradley, Art Chapman and Dick Bradley broke up attack after attack and when the visitors did get by the intermediate rank they found Dal Munro and Lloyd Cann, steady fullbacks, hard to beat. The last line of defence, clever Norm Stewardson, guarded the net in spectacular style, and while he had much more to do than the visiting goalie, he was safe during the whole game.

Vancouver started with Masi, their regular net custodian, on the front line, and Plummer, substitute goalie, between the sticks. Masi and Plummer changed places after Victoria took the lead in the series, but the switch came too late to help the visitors.

Two minutes from the start, the locals registered their only score of the initial half when Bob Brown met Ball's cross from the left lane and scored with a first-timer to the far corner of the net.

BROWN SCORES AGAIN
There was no further scoring until the twenty-seven-minute mark of the last session, and again Brown was the goal-getter. Ball crossed from the left and Brown headed the ball into the net. Four minutes later "Shorty" Collins went through for the final score of the game.

F. Smith presented the cup to Dal Munro, captain of the local team, immediately following the match.

A large number of Vancouver supporters made the trip with the Mainland store eleven and joined in the activities during the day. In the evening at 6 o'clock the visitors were the banquet guests of the Victoria club.

W. L. Waldie Is Named Head of B.C. Golf Body

W. L. WALDIE, Vancouver, was elected president of the British Columbia Golf Association at the annual meeting, held Sunday night at the Uplands Club. He succeeds J. C. Pendray, Victoria, as head of the association. A. S. G. Musgrave, Victoria, was named vice-president, while the following were placed on the directors: H. H. Allen, George Vale Club; Harold Brynjolfsson, Uplands Club; E. N. Horsey, Colwood Club; J. Newberry, Vancouver; V. MacLean, Vancouver; and E. Jones, Vancouver. J. Howat, Vancouver, was re-elected secretary-treasurer, and A. V. Price was returned as assistant secretary-treasurer. J. C. Pendray automatically goes on the directors' board. The next provincial tournament will be held at the Jericho Club on the Mainland.

McMillan refereed, and the teams were:
Victoria—Stewardson, Munro, Cann, L. Bradley, A. Chapman, R. Bradley, Brown, Moir, Williams, Collins, Ball and Speller.
Vancouver—Plummer, J. Arnot, G. Arnot, Ellett, Wheeler, Carey, Noble, Johnstone, G. Bradbury, Masi and Kato.

COLWOOD SHOTMAKER DEFEATS RUSS CASE AFTER GREAT BATTLE

Twenty-Year-Old Victorian Gains One-Up Victory Over Veteran Vancouver Golfer and British Columbia Open Champion at Uplands Course—Morgan Wins First Flight

while Case was short and missed to put the Colwood shotmaker two holes in the lead. At the next green, Lawson went over with a second niblick shot while the Mainlander was twelve feet past the pin. Case won the hole to be one down.

Russ Case was pin high with his drive at the short twenty-second hole while Lawson was in the trap on the left. The local player played a fine recovery shot about eight feet short of the pin. Case putted dead and won the hole with a three while Lawson missed the putt and the match was squared once more.

Lawson ran into tough luck at the next green when he putted boldly for the cup and knocked Case's ball in with a half starting him in the face. The Victorian went two down at the next hole when he over played the green and then missed the putt. The long twenty-fifth hole went to Lawson when Case encountered trouble. He was in the rough with his drive, his second finding a bunker and his third was short. After playing six Case conceded the hole after the Colwood player was on in three.

MATCH SQUARED
Both reached the next green with a drive and easy iron shot. They were about twenty feet away and the hole was halved in par fours. Case reached the next green with his drive while Lawson was just short. The Vancouver player putted short and then missed the next to lose the hole and the match was squared again at the three-quarter distance.

Lawson got a break at the twenty-eighth hole when his second, an iron, landed in the bunker and continued right through to stop about eight feet from the flag. Case played a sensational shot but missed his putt to put Lawson in the lead again. Lawson was short at the next hole with his tee shot while Case found a trap. He exploded over the green and the hole was halved in fours after Lawson muffed a short putt, one about two feet.

Both hooked into a bunker on the next hole, and after scrambling over the fairway, Lawson lost the hole with a six to Case's four and the match was squared.

They smacked great approach shots to the pin at the thirty-first hole and it was halved in three. Case reached the woods with his drive at the next, chipped out in the clear and then put his third on the green. It was halved in fives. Case sank a twenty-footer at the next green to gain a half and then three-putted the short thirty-fourth to be one down and two to go. Case passed up a great chance at the next green to square the match when he missed a very short putt. The end came on the next green when Lawson got his par four.

On Sunday the defending champion, Kenny Black, Vancouver, and Stan Leonard, also from the Mainland, went out of the picture. Black bowed to Case, 2 and 1, while Leonard was beaten by the tournament medalist, Jimmy Todd, 3 and 1. In the afternoon, Todd went out of the picture before the steady playing of Case. Jimmy Robertson, Vancouver, beat Alan Taylor, Victoria, in the morning at the twenty-third green, but lost in the afternoon to Lawson, 3 and 2.

Flimer Morgan, Macaulay Club, won the first flight from Bill Hoggan, Nanaimo, 3 and 2, while Lynn Roach, Uplands, took the second flight from Alan Riches, one up. The mixed foursomes was won by Bill Hoggan and Mrs. E. Prescott.

Leonard lost to the city champion, but in turn bowed to Russ Case in the next round, 3 and 1. Here's the spectators going down the fourteenth fairway. The meet, which just concluded yesterday with Kenny Lawson, Colwood member, winning the title from Russ Case, Vancouver, was one of the most successful held on local fairways for a long time.

THE TUTTS... By Crawford Young

Jane Dixon Says:

PEOPLE ARE POPULAR BECAUSE THEY ARE ALERT, CAREFUL, SYMPATHETIC AND EAGER TO GIVE AS MUCH OR MORE THAN THEY RECEIVE

Don't waste time by envying the social flair, the likeability and popularity of others.

Study the traits that make others likable. Cultivate your own social graces. Increase your circle of friends; to win more of their admiration and affection.

Popularity is not an accident.

It is the logical result of a given cause.

People are popular because they offer facets of attraction that draw others to them. They are alert, eager to give as much or more than they receive; they are cheerful, sympathetic, understanding. They are shining people, and others are glad to come in contact with the warmth and light they radiate.

If we feel we are worthy of more attention than we receive, but are unappreciated, then we may be sure we have failed to express our worthiness in ways that make us preferred companions, desirable friends, amusing acquaintances.

PUZZLED BY HUSBAND'S POPULARITY

Dear Jane Dixon:

I'm one of those unfortunate women—don't say I'm fortunate because I know better—who is married to a very popular man. Everyone likes him and gives him a great big hand, though I can't see that he does anything special to get them that way.

He's fairly good-looking, but I know handsomer men who don't get half the attention he does from women. He's intelligent and fairly successful, but I know much smarter and more successful men who don't have influential business friends slapping them on the back and treating them like buddies.

I know that many of the nicest invitations we receive are because of him, and that so far as I am concerned I could remain home and never be missed. It makes me feel terrible and has caused me to draw more and more within myself until sometimes I feel I'm a complete dud and a handicap to him. So far I don't believe he has noticed the difference between us, but one of these days he will. Then what?

Isn't there some way I can brighten myself up and shine on my own instead of by reflected glory?—Mouse.

Why not make a careful and dispassionate study of what your husband does and how he does it with a view to discovering the secret of his success with people?

HOMELY WOMEN CAN BE POPULAR

I'm willing to wager that one reason—and a most important one—for his popularity is that he likes folks. The more we like our fellow-men with a sincere and unselfish affection, the better they like us and the higher their regard for us as a companion or a friend.

Popularity never is a matter of good looks. Frequently the homeliest girl in the crowd is the most in demand. She knows she can't depend on her face to put her over. She must get over by the use of her heart and her head. She is responsive to the good she finds in others, to the fun in them, to the ideas they voice. She is so interested in them that she forgets herself, and in forgetting herself she becomes gracious and charming and companionable.

Don't allow yourself to dwell on the thought that you are made insignificant by your husband's star of popularity. Make up your mind that you will do some twinkling too and give yourself no rest until you have discovered new ways and means to twinkle. Buy some new and becoming clothes. A woman always feels more adequate when she is sure of her gown and her grooming.

Encourage people to talk about themselves and their interests. Be a good listener. Be lively. Like others as you would be liked by them, and you'll build up a 100 per cent rating for popularity in any company.

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

WHENCE THE "HATBAND"?

The hatband, now an insignificant item in the male scheme of accoutrements, tells an interesting story of the curious fashion of a bygone day.

During the Plantagenet period in England, the headgear for men was a hood.

From this was suspended the so-called liripipe or liripoop, also known as the long tippet.

During the reign of Henry VIII, the hood was superseded by the hat; the long tippet, too, was modified, till gradually it took the form of the hatband, as we know it today.

FASHIONABLE

A young farmhand visited London to spend a holiday with a relative.

His clothing being decidedly rustic in appearance, his host suggested that he should get a suit from a city tailor, to which the young man agreed.

"What about a small deposit, sir?" asked the tailor when measurements had been taken.

"Just as you like," replied the other. "Put one on if they're fashionable."

Together in "Internes Can't

That glamorous romantic pair of "Gambling Lady" and "Banjo on My Knee," Barbara Stanwyck and Joel McCrea, are together again in "Internes Can't Take Money," the excellent drama of mother love and devotion, which opens at the Do-

The cast includes Lloyd Nolan,
the "bad" man of "The Texas Rangers," who, despite his "menace" roles, is rapidly making himself one of America's favorite screen performers. Stanley Ridges, Anthony Nace, Jack Mulhall and others are also in the cast of this splendid drama, which was directed with great skill by Alfred Santell.

YOUNG BOWES IN BOWES' AMATEUR UNIT

A new Major Bowes unit will come to Victoria this week for appearances at the Empire Theatre, on Thursday afternoon and evening.

In the troupe are the Youngman
Brothers, Skippy, George and Jack.
They were all born in Chicago, and spent most of their lives there until Major Bowes gave them their chance and put them on the road to fame and fortune.

They have been entertaining people since they were very small, and have played at many benefit performances in Chicago hospitals.

Skippy is a clarinetist, and arranges the music in imitation of popular bands.

STAGE PLAY COMING TO EMPIRE JUNE 4

Much interest has been created in theatrical circles of Victoria, and the public generally, by the announcement that Ernest Frederick Chester, late of the New York stage, would play the leading role, supported by the cream of Victoria's amateur talent, in "It Happened in Hollywood," at the Empire Theatre, on Friday and Saturday evenings, June 4 and 5.

Mr. Chester has toured the world and played on the stage of many countries. He was with New York companies for many years, and has also appeared on the London stage.

In New York he was stage director for Messrs. Dillingham, Erlanger and Ziegfeld, and Messrs.
Lee and J. J. Schubert.

That Body of Yours

(By James W. Barton, M.D.)

IT IS THE PERSONALITY OF THE PATIENT THAT CAUSES PEPTIC ULCER

A patient who had suffered for a long time with an ulcer of the stomach finally tired of watching his diet and taking alkaline powders, and decided to undergo operation.
The operation was successful and he felt that now his troubles were over; that he would have no further pain or discomfort.

In expressing this thought to his physician, he was surprised and disappointed when he was told that another ulcer might form at some time in the future unless he used "extreme" care, that "ordinary" care of his diet and habits would not be sufficient.

The physician explained that it was not his stomach that was at fault. It was his personality; the way he worried about business, his hurry with meals, his disposition to find fault or quarrel, his irregular hours, eating when tired or upset and other little parts of his make-up that made the ulcer form.

"The person who develops peptic ulcer (ulcer of the stomach and ulcer of the duodenum, or first part of the small intestine into which the stomach empties) is more important than the ulcer itself. It is not the stomach, but the man who is ill."

Dr. George Draper, Professor of Clinical Medicine, Columbia University, in Clinical Medicine and Surgery, says that "violent, destructive emotional outbreaks—fear, jealousy, and the like—frequently cause an increase in the symptoms of peptic ulcer. There seems to be a brain centre which begins or controls emotion, and from which the emotional upset comes; but the way these emotions are expressed depends upon the individual's make-up, without his being at all conscious of the fact.

"Peptic" ulcer is, then, a part of the personality of the sufferer, and is determined by the immediate emotional conditions at the time."

Now when we remember that at least one in every fifty men and women have peptic ulcer, and a great many more have the personality or make-up that invites or causes peptic ulcer, it gives us some idea of the number of "nervous" or

Three years of suffering and then feels it her duty to tell other suf-

Here—in her letter—she tells her story.

"I feel it my duty to tell you

I have obtained relief after taking two bottles of Kruschen Salts. I have been in hospital, had radiant heat, etc., but nothing touched it until I read about Kruschen Salts, and the benefits derived from them.
I can walk at least three miles a

MERETRIOUS KINDNESS

The "Major" is a familiar character in New York bridge clubs. One of the best of the old whist and auction players, it was almost necessary to anaesthetize him to take up contract when it became popular.
(Later, of course, he acted as though he had been the father of the new game.) He is choric and quite intolerant of what he calls "scientific players." He knows no joy as keen as trapping a young expert in either bidding or play. Imagine his ecstasy, then, when the declarer in the hand shown below walked into the spider's parlor like an innocent little fly.

North, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

The "Major" at West. His partner having passed originally, the "Major" felt that it would be futile to double the one spade bid for a take-out. To do so would involve shading the requirements slightly and probably come to no good. As to the final contract of four spades, the "Major" thought that he could almost surely beat it, but felt that his singleton king would be safer in the absence of a double.

The queen of clubs was the opening lead, won by the ace, and East returned the deuce of diamonds.
The "Major" gathered in declarer's king, and thought matters over carefully. Declarer's bidding had virtually guaranteed ten cards in the major suits. The deuce of diamonds led by East had virtually guaranteed that the king was a singleton. Declarer probably had started with only two clubs to the king, and, therefore, would have no club that would give him entry to dummy by ruffing. It was highly unlikely that declarer would lead up to the jack of hearts in dummy, since there was no assurance that the king was under. Instead of over, the jack, and also since such an effort would court a ruff of a heart.

Rather than put declarer back into his own hand and virtually force him to bank down the ace of trumps, the "Major" determined to be "kind"
and to help declarer reach dummy for a trump finesse. He selected a suit for this purpose that would be almost sure to be won in dummy, a low heart. Dummy's nine was played, and when it held, declarer shot a suspicious glance at the "Major." But he could not know that he had deliberately put him in dummy for ulterior purposes and, therefore, cannot be blamed for promptly taking the trump finesse and losing to the "Major's" singleton king. Later, of course, the "Major" had to get his heart king for the setting trick.

The declarer felt badly about losing his contract, but much worse about giving the "Major" so much ammunition for gloating purposes.

TODAY'S QUESTION

sponse to partner's opening one no

Mr. Culbertson will discuss this hand in Tuesday's article.

JO-JOTTIE POINTER

Jo-Jottie is full of situations in which the lead may catch a trick.
Typical is the case of ten-small in one player's hand and ace-small in the other player's hand. If the player with the ten must lead that suit he will not make his ten as long as declarer plays correctly. The lead of the ten will lose to the ace and the lead of the small card will merely elicit opponent's small card.
Then the ace will capture the ten.
This situation is especially common in no trump play in which a player can afford to hold up a high card without fearing to have it ruffed away on a later round. When possible, make a lead in a suit which is not too "tenaced," and try to preserve safe leads for "exit" purposes.
